TRAINING PROGRAMME ON

PREVENTING EQUIPMENT FAILURES

- BEST OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE OF ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS

DATES: 13 & 14 MAY 2026

Venue: Productivity House

Time : 09.30 am - 04.30 pm

INTRODUCTION

The seamless functioning of electrical systems is vital for ensuring safety, reliability, and productivity in any industrial operation. However, electrical failures often triggered by poor maintenance or undetected issues can lead to unexpected breakdowns, production halts, and costly repairs.

This programme is designed to provide practical guidance and proven methodologies for maintaining critical electrical assets such as motors, switchgear and protection systems. It will help participants identify earlywarning signs, adopt preventive measures, and implement best practices for system reliability.

Led by seasoned industry experts, the training aims to enhance the competence of engineers, supervisors, and technicians in managing electrical systems proactively minimizing downtime, ensuring operational efficiency, and safeguarding investments.

COVERAGE

- ✓ Electrical Failures: Causes & Solutions
Root causes, impact, and preventive maintenance of switchgear and protection systems.
- ✓ Motor Maintenance Best Practices
Ensuring safe, efficient, and trouble-free motor operation.
- ✓ Advanced Protection Systems
Latest innovations to safeguard electrical infrastructure and prevent failures.
- ✓ Facility-Wide System Management
Efficient electrical system practices for large-scale industrial units from an organizational viewpoint.
